

Legno di paulownia carbonizzato è un tipo di legno che subisce un trattamento termico ad alta temperatura, che migliora la durabilità e la resistenza alla corrosione. Il suo colore si scurisce, presentando un effetto estetico unico. Questo processo rende il legno più stabile, riduce l'espansione o la contrazione causata dai cambiamenti di umidità e migliora la resistenza ai parassiti e alle catastrofi naturali. Il legno carbonizzato è anche considerato un materiale rispettoso dell'ambiente perché la sua produzione non si basa su conservanti chimici.

Il legno di paulownia carbonizzato è comunemente usato in mobili da esterno, recinzioni, ponti e paesaggistica. Le sue prestazioni stabili lo rendono adatto anche all'uso intorno a piscine e altri ambienti ad alta umidità. Le proprietà ecocompatibili del legno carbonizzato lo rendono una scelta popolare nella progettazione di edifici sostenibili, adatto per pareti, pavimenti e decorazioni d'interni.

Siamo una fabbrica di pannelli in legno massiccio e melammina con oltre 10 anni di storia in Cina. Ora collaboriamo con più di 100 aziende di mobili, armadi, lavorazione del legno e commercio di legno dal mercato globale del legno.
